City Council Takes Action to Block Future Pirating of Police Officers

By Virginia Beauchamp

The Greenbelt police could find several items of special interest to them on the agenda of the city council's regular meeting of August 12. Early in the meeting new police officer Thomas W. Kemp was sworn in by mayor Gil Weidenfeld. Since Kemp left immediately after taking the oath of office, he did not hear later discussions which took place at about midnight of a very long meeting, that could affect the department's future.

The most important single item concerned the city's response to an earlier active recruitment of Greenbelt officers by the Prince Georges County Police Dept. and other nearby jurisdictions. What outraged the city was that these officers had only recently completed an expensive training program paid for by Greenbelt but had worked here only briefly—in one case not at all—after their graduation. In response, the city manager recommended a new contract provision recognizing the employees' debt to the city for the cost of training. This debt would be reduced with each month of employment over a two-year period. Employees who left the Greenbelt force short of that two year period would be obligated to reimburse the city for the expense of their training, prorated by the length of their employment.

In considering the proposal, council particularly sought definition of the phrase "new police officer." Giese gave a short and precise answer: Those hired after

July 1, 1985. The procedure would thus apply only to two current employees, he noted—not, for example, to four other officers in the class of those who had been recruited away.

Sgt. Terrence M. McGrath, president of the Greenbelt lodge of the Fraternal Order of Police expressed concern about turnover in personnel among officers in the force for two, three, and four years. He expressed the desire of the FOP to aid the city both in recruiting quality people and in holding them here.

McGrath questioned, however, why the police, among all city employees, should be singled out to sign such an agreement concerning reimbursement for training. To his query, mayor Weidenfeld pointed out that only the police have such an extensive, off-site training program. Other employees receive on-the-job training as they work into their positions, he said.

Officer Patrick McAndrew, FOP vice president, asked council to consider what he felt was a more relevant question—not why are they leaving but how can we improve conditions here so they will want to stay? He cited greater benefits for police in other jurisdictions—not only higher salaries, but night differential pay, health care, and retirement after 20 years (as compared with 30 years in Greenbelt).

Valerie Siegel suggested that council consider legislative relief of some sort to offer to the state legislature to deal with the problem of active recruitment across jurisdictional boundaries. "We're very vulnerable to losing officers," she said.

On a motion by councilmember Dick Pilski, council adopted the city manager's recommendation.

Take-home Vehicles

Council also unanimously approved a request by Chief Frank T. Hutson to grant permission to the police lieutenants to take home their official police vehicles. In the course of discussion council members affirmed their belief in the deterrent effect of police vehicles parked in neighborhoods. The only question was the location of these respective neighborhoods. Only one, it turned out, was in Greenbelt but the others were within a seven-mile radius of the city.

Chief Hutson stressed that at no time would the city's fleet be inadequately staffed as a result of this policy. It would apply in any case to only three officers, he said.

Council also authorized the expenditure of Police Dept. funds to purchase a package of 34 training courses in law enforcement developed by the University of Delaware. Cost of the program is $6,400.

Actions Deferred

Submitted but not discussed was a new set of job descriptions for police officers which have been developed by the city manager. Also deferred to a work session was council's input on the Public Administration Service study of the operations and management of the Greenbelt Police Dept. Ninety-six recommendations for change grew out of that study, which was authorized before Chief Hutson took over his position and was carried out in late 1984.

Curtis and Pilski Join Council Race

Steven Curtis and mayor pro-tem Richard Pilski became the seventh and eighth candidates to file for the September 30 City Council election. They joined incumbents Gil Weidenfeld, Thomas X. White, Antoinette M. (Toni) Bram and Edward Putens, and newcomers Joseph Isaacs, and Valerie Siegel in vying for the five council slots. This rounds out the list of candidates who filed by the August 12 deadline.

Steve Curtis has lived in Greenbelt for the past ten years as a member of the Greenbelt Homes Inc. housing cooperative. He resides at 9-M Ridge Rd. with his wife Mary.

Curtis has been employed at Goddard Space Flight Center for 17 years, presently working as a space scientist. He has been helping to determine the role of science on NASA's planned Space Station. Curtis has also been working with NASA headquarters personnel in program planning for future scientific research. In addition, he has consulted for the Department of Energy.

Curtis has been active in the Greenbelt community since he first moved here. He has served on and chaired numerous GHI committees and was active during the planning stages of the cooperative's rehabilitation program. He served on the GHI Board of Directors during the time period when the bulk of the final decisions were made and funds expended for the rehabilitation program. He has also served as the president of Greenbelt's citywide civic organization, Citizens for Greenbelt, during which time he helped focus CFG's attention on preserving the largest part of the city's greenspace belt, the Beltsville Agricultural Research Center.

Curtis received his B.S., M.S. and Ph.D. degrees in physics from the University of Maryland while working at Goddard. He is active in a number of scientific organizations.

Last Week to Register To Vote in City Election

Deadline for voter registration, August 26, is approaching and all eligible Greenbelt residents are encouraged to register now in order to participate in the City Council election to be held Monday, September 30. As of August 13 there were 3020 registered voters.

All residents are eligible to vote if they are United States citizens of sound mind who are domiciled in the City of Greenbelt and are 18 years of age by election day. The city charter defines domicile as the dwelling place which the voter intends to be his permanent home.

Citizens may register to vote at the city offices, Monday through Friday, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. until the last day of registration, August 26. Registration will also take place in the Greenbelt Homes office on Hamilton Place, Green Ridge House at 22 Ridge Road, Greenbriar Community Center at 7600 Hanover Parkway, Hunting Ridge Club House at 6914 Hanover Parkway, Windsor Green Community House at 6220 Springhill Drive (See the ad in this issue for registration hours)

Previously registered citizens need not re-register unless they have moved from Greenbelt and then moved back or have failed to vote in the last two general elections. A copy of the voter registration list is posted in the city offices and at all registration centers.

Registration for state, county and national elections does not qualify people to vote in city elections.

Voters may also request a registration form by calling 474-8000 or 474-3870, or by writing the City Clerk at 25 Crescent Road. The City Clerk will return an official voter registration form to the applicant for completion and signature. However, the completed form must be returned so as to reach the City Clerk by August 26, the last day of registration.

The election this year will be held on a Monday instead of the traditional Tuesday so as not to conflict with the Jewish holidays of Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur.

Calling All Parents

To the Editor:

Last week the News Review carried an announcement by the City which may have been missed by many concerned parents.

Several parents have asked the City to investigate the viability of providing transportation (at a fee) to and from Greenbelt-area schools, since the County does not provide this service for most school-age children.

The Greenbelt Connection city bus service might be available, and the city asks that you call or write and let them know:

1. How much you would be willing to pay per child per week ($2, $3, $5, or $10).

2. How many children might use the service and for which schools (Center Elementary, Springhill Lake Elementary, St. Hugh's, Greenbelt Middle, Eleanor Roosevelt High School, or other schools).

You may mail your response to the city offices at 25 Crescent Road or telephone Renee Bryan at 474-8000.

Please respond by August 20 so that the city can evaluate the need quickly and schedule the bus service to begin when the schools open.

Light refreshments will be served.

THANKS

To the Editor:

A most sincere "Thank You" to all those who so earnestly came to my son's rescue last Tuesday, especially to the two rescue squad personnel, Messrs. Lagone and Bowley, Dr. Granite, and Miss Beard. Without their promptness, expertise, and great concern, Jeff's accident would have truly proved fatal. We also wish to extend many, many thanks to everyone for their cards, calls, prayers, and well wishes.

Jeff is doing much better now and it's because of people like yourselves. God bless all of you. (P.S. Uncle Mike, you're the best.)

The Timbs and Ronchi Families

Kudos and Thanks

To the Editor:

Kudos and thanks to Lee Mowery of Laurel for her persistence in efforts to rescue the cat in the tree at Attick Park and to Richard Mills, Steward Whitehead, and Thomas Keifline of the City Public Works Department for actually rescuing the kitty.

A big BOOOOOO to those who were asked to help and wouldn't!!!

Those attending could watch themselves on videotapes taken during the team presentations before the judges in the Sunday afternoon session closing out the charrette's events. They could also view colored slides taken throughout the June 1 weekend. For those desiring a copy, the city staff had prepared a booklet reproducing design concepts that had been presented by each participating team.

For the first time the deliberations of the judges in the design competition were made available through notes taken by Jack Downs, one of the panel members. With only 45 minutes to deliberate, these notes reveal, this group of seven people — many strangers to one another — had to try to sort out such questions as what criteria to use in their judging (the city's interest? the commercial interests? restoration or revitalization interests?) and how to compare the work of teams which were noticeably unequal as to the number of professional and citizen members which comprised them.

The booklet's final section offers a word-by-word transcription of comments by the judges at the awards ceremony following the band concert on the mall. That was when judge Joseph Passoneau summed up the weekend that produced so many new ways of looking at Greenbelt: "Anybody who really worked on this is a winner."

Fern Wins Skolnik Award

by Laura Beall

Eighteen-year-old Maureen Fern, daughter of William and Kathleen Fern of Greenbelt, received the Alfred M. Skolnik Award at the Eleanor Roosevelt Awards ceremony on May 15 for her journalistic achievements throughout her senior year. This award is presented each year in memory of Alfred M. Skolnik, who dedicated 30 years of service to the Greenbelt News Review.

Maureen served as editor of the yearbook and also wrote for the school newspaper, the Raider Review. Her other achievements at Eleanor Roosevelt include serving as vice-president of the American Field Service and graduating in the top five percent of her class as a member of the National Honor Society.

After spending two years in the technical program at Roosevelt, Maureen took a class in journalism to "add more variety" to her studies and soon became attracted to writing for the school yearbook. Asked when she realized she had a talent for writing, she replied that she doesn't really think she has a special talent for it but when she's forced to sit down and write something, she can do it and she hopes "others will find it good."

Expressing her wish that more people get involved in such activities, she said, "People don't realize what a great experience it is to work with a staff of people to produce something like a yearbook that thousands of people are going to read." The experience is "right there at your fingertips." Maureen not only got involved but she took her responsibilities as yearbook editor seriously, sometimes at the expense of other obligations, admitting that grades and relationships suffered somewhat as a result of the time her position demanded. "It was my whole life this year," she sighed, but not without a tone of satisfaction in her voice.

Maureen is very happy to have received the award, saying, "Finally someone notices the work you did." During the course of the school year there seemed to be "no light at the end of the tunnel" of hard work, deadlines, and sleepless nights, she said.

Maureen could not have fully enjoyed this recognition without mentioning the credit due to Joseph Taylor, an English teacher at Eleanor Roosevelt, who served as advisor for the yearbook and whose support and encouragement have not been forgotten. There were many nights that Taylor stayed at school until midnight, helping the yearbook staff with their various duties. "He was always there pushing us to do the work," Maureen recalls.

Maureen's other interests include athletics. She is a member of the Greenbelt Women's Soccer League and has played basketball for St. Hugh's for the past six years.

At the end of August she will attend the University of Salamanca in Spain for one semester where she will study Spanish art, language, and literature. Following this experience, she will probably seek a liberal arts degree at the University of Maryland. When asked about her career goals, she said she would like to "combine Spanish with journalism and maybe work in a foreign country as a newspaper correspondent."

Looking back at the experience of being editor of the yearbook and the responsibilities she incurred, she says, "Now I'm not afraid to do anything

What will dental care be like in the future?

The past 15-20 years have seen great changes in dental care. High speed equipment and lounge-type chairs have made dental treatment quicker, easier and more comfortable. In the future, the long awaited results of years of research shall offer even more comfort and efficiency, along with prevention of dental disease at its highest level.

Among the new developments we shall soon see are plaque dissolving agents, anti-cavity vaccines, time-release fluorides and laser technology. Each of these shall be discussed in future weeks.

Despite all these advances, it is still impossible to completely prevent dental disease if the basic principles of proper hygiene are not followed. Improper brushing and failure to use dental floss still remain as the basic cause of tooth decay and gum disease.

Boxwood Community Recall Varied Past With 20th Anniversary Party

Thursday, August 15, 1985

by Elaine Skolnik

A gala dinner dance marked the twentieth anniversary of Boxwood Village on June 14. The event held at the American Legion Post 136 home, featured remarks by former Boxwood Civic Association presidents Hugh McEvoy and Ronald Ott, and present president Joe Isaacs, who served as master of ceremonies. Mayor Gil Weidenfeld and Prince Georges County Councilman Richard Castaldi presented proclamations.

The 205 single-family home Boxwood development is located across from Attick Park and Greenbelt Lake.

The first families moved into Boxwood in 1965. The Boxwood Civic Association (BCA) was formed the following year. Isaacs said, "Over the years the association stood as a collective voice and organized civic representation for Boxwood residents in order to address mutual concerns."

The first BCA president, McEvoy, explained to the anniversary celebrants, "In the early days there was a strong need to group together, not only to meet new friends, but also for civic and political reasons. . . . We needed to defend ourselves against developers and zoning that was contrary to the good life."

McEvoy spoke of the "painful time" (in 1966) when the developer cut down all the trees on residentially zoned Parcel 7, the tract of land directly across from Attick Park at the corner of Crescent Road and Lastner Lane. At the time the developer sought commercial zoning for a neighborhood shopping center on the property.

The Greenbelt City Council, supported by BCA and other civic groups, successfully opposed any zoning change. Eventually the city acquired the land through condemnation proceedings.

During the sixties, social activities were popular. BCA sponsored dances, bowling leagues and other programs. June McEvoy said, "New families were eager to participate. We were young, had lots of little children and were eager to make new friends." She estimated that in the early days there were about 50 children in her immediate neighborhood of 17 homes. "Today, there are few children," she observed.

The 1970's

Ott spoke about the 1970's when, he said, certain covenants (dealing with restrictions of geese and mules, and with the developer's retaining uranium rights) were still a topic of conversation. In the seventies, he noted, BCA instituted a "no-dues" policy, published a directory of Boxwood home-owners and followed closely the planning of improvements to the Greenbelt Road/Kenilworth Avenue intersection.

Ott, who was chairman of the city's Parks and Recreation Advisory Board for many years, recounted the association's role in obtaining a playground on Parcel 7 after his son was hurt playing ball in the road. BCA's petition to the city council led to the funding of not one but five additional play areas in various parts of Greenbelt.

"Greenbelt works, but it works slowly," Ott said, referring to the five years it took to complete the projects.

In the early 1970's the stormy years of school integration and busing in Prince Georges County, Boxwood children (also Charlestowne Village University Square, Lakeside North and some Springhill Lake students) were slated to be bused to schools outside of Greenbelt. BCA vigorously opposed the action, arguing that Boxwood Village was integrated. But the battle was lost. Frustrated and discouraged, the interest of Boxwood homeowners in the association was minimal for several years.

Renewed Activity

A revival of interest in the association began during the years that Muriel Weidenfeld served as president. She was particularly proud of BCA's leadership role in the community-wide milky spore program against Japanese beetles, the publishing of a Boxwood directory, and the association's continuing participation in the Labor Day Festival.

Weidenfeld observed that younger families are now moving into Boxwood, as long-time residents are retiring and opting for smaller homes in the community or moving away. Isaacs estimated there was about a 10% turnover of homes in the past three years.

In his review of the years since 1982, Isaacs, who is now serving his third term as BCA president, cited the following accomplishments: (1) a bus shelter at the stop on Crescent Road at Lastner Lane and a combination bus shelter-bulletin board near Ivy Lane at Parcel 7 playground, (2) a crime watch program, (3) a welcome wagon program and greeting card service, (4) work to prevent the sale of Beltsville Agricultural Research Center tracts, and (5) a successful effort to stop termination of bus service to Eleanor Roosevelt High School.

Isaacs said, "The Boxwood Civic Association is flourishing."

Congratulations

Greenbelt Mayor Gil Weidenfeld and Prince Georges County

Councilman Richard Castaldi presented congratulatory proclamations to BCA on behalf of their respective councils.

In presenting the city's message, Weidenfeld spoke of how Boxwood Village newcomers molded "this new single family housing development of the 60's into a true community within the Greenbelt community." The proclamation also emphasized Boxwood residents' "active role in the educational and political processes" and their service on the city council and official boards.

Castaldi also lauded the fact that "Boxwood Village residents have been among the political leaders of Greenbelt and Prince Georges County." (Serving on city councils from Boxwood have been Richard Pilski, Gil Weidenfeld, and Toni Bram.)

"Boxwood," Castaldi said, "has an active citizenry in planning and zoning matters," and the County Council recognizes their many contributions.

City Football Teams Gear Up for Fall

by Jeff Keir

The members of the Greenbelt Boys and Girls Club football teams received their practice uniforms, including helmet and shoulder pads, earlier this week. The players and coaches are enthusiastic at the prospects of the coming football season.

The County Boys and Girls Club "weigh-in" for the Greenbelt teams is scheduled for Saturday morning, August 24, 10:15 a.m., at the Youth Center. All players are reminded that each is required to be at the weigh-in.

Additional players may register until August 23. But it is strongly urged that anyone who wants to play on a Greenbelt Boys and Girls Club football team sign-up immediately as the practice season is already into its third week; practice uniforms have been issued; and the other players' skill levels are improving every day. August 23 is the absolute last day to sign up. Registration is at Braden Field every weekday at 6 p.m. Practices are from 6-8 p.m. every weekday until school begins, then three times a week.

Assistant coaches (and team statisticians) are still needed, especially for the 110 lb. team. Volunteers should call Jeff Keir (552-9234) or come to Braden Field any weekday evening.

Boys Novice Tennis Team Takes County Championship

by Beverly Fiege

The Greenbelt boys tennis team of the National Junior Tennis League won first place in the Prince Georges County Novice League by defeating Bowie in a play-off match last Monday. This is Greenbelt's third year of participating in junior tennis. It is now apparent that our boys will have to move up to the intermediate league next year.

Having won the county championship, Greenbelt will compete in the regional matches in Washington on August 26, under the auspices of the Washington Area Tennis Patrons. Locally, we receive a great deal of support from the Greenbelt Tennis Association.

Forty Greenbelt youngsters joined NJTL this year, and all of them played in several matches. The boys 18 and under group was very strong with Paul Reuben, Robby Reed, Josh Hamlin, John Kircher and Daryl Brooks.

Bao-An Nguyen not only played well, but also recruited many good players for the 14 and under group. Cory Crabill, Steffan Sonneveldt, Alex Franco, Julio Morales, Sean Arthurs, Sasha Gomelsy Steve French, and Andrew Knolls played in this age category and occasionally had to help out in the 18 and unders.

We had few players in the 12 and under category, but experienced players Brian Crabill, John Fiege, and Joey Murray were helped out by some talented beginners: Bjorn Johnson, Michael Kramer, Alex Colmer and Louis Van Wambeke. John Fiege played every match and was undefeated.

The Girls Novice Team, coached by Beth White O'Connor, finished the 1985 season with a 2-5-1 record. The beginners on the team, including Denise Nenichka, Ericka Flick and Jeannie McCarthy, showed remarkable improvement in serving ability over the three-month season. Intermediate players like Emily Sonneveldt and Michelle Farley demonstrated improvement in their overall game. Dieu Nguyen won every game she played. The team also received much help from Alice Lange, Cheryl Miller, Juli Foster, Molly Ahearn, Sue Belisle Fran Mann, Julie Nenichka and Heather Thompson.

Greenbelt junior tennis is again viable thanks to coaches John Cotter, Fred Fiege and Beth White O'Connor. Rod Brame and Sam Sain also helped out. The team looks forward to another fine year in 1986, when Greenbelt again will have eight good courts at Braden Field.

Second prize winner was James Darden, a third grader, whose balloon was retrieved from Bowlers Beach, Delaware. He received a game.

Cancer Information Offered by Groups

Because of the recent vast media coverage of President Reagan's operation, many public concerns have been raised about various forms of cancer and carcinogens.

In response to the continuing need for information about colorectal cancer, the American Cancer Society has inaugurated an education program which provides the opportunity to learn more about colorectal cancer and how to protect oneself from it. These programs are available to groups free of charge. For further information and scheduling, contact the American Cancer Society in Hyattsville by calling 864-7361.

Recent research has shown that excessive outdoor cooking can entail some cancer risk. The American Institute for Cancer Research has prepared a booklet, "Facts You Should Know About Outdoor Cooking" to help the many Americans who look forward to the outdoor grill season. It may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed business-sized envelope to the American Institute for Cancer Research, Dept. OC, P.O. Box 76216, Washington, D.C. 20013.

Trash at the Lake -- A Growing Problem

by Andrea Edie

Visitors to Greenbelt Lake are often greeted by the aroma of a barbecue and the great outdoors. But as they walk around the lake, trash and seaweed attack the senses. Informal complaints have been whispered in the ears of the city council. News Review staff and the director of public works regarding the state of Buddy Attick Park, especially around the Fourth of July weekend.

"Maybe there are more people this year, or they were just messier," Public Works Director George Smith said about July 4th.

Police Cadet Maria Arthur, who regularly patrols the lake, said she was impressed by how clean the park was on Friday afternoon when she started her shift. Arthur had left the park later that night when it was "wall-to-wall trash. By the next afternoon it was clean."

The trash barrels are emptied on Monday and Friday before noon, which accounts for the high level of trash on Sundays.

According to Smith, the two problems concerning the maintenance of the lake are the shortage of staff in the public works department and the seaweed in bloom which adds to the bad appearance.

"Historically, we drop the waterline in the spring to clean the shore and remove the seaweed," Smith said, "but the Bureau of Fisheries has cautioned us because the fish are spawning in the spring." Consequently, Public Works plans to drop the waterline after Labor Day for cleaning. Until then, the city has a crew using the city's boat to pick up debris along the shore.

The peninsula tends to be the worst offender with the most seaweed and trash accumulated in one place. Smith said, that the two factors affecting the peninsula are a west wind blowing in that end and the heavy vegetation growth.

Another eye sore is the trash along the entrance to Boxwood Village and along Crescent Road. According to Smith, those areas are only cleaned on Saturday afternoons by people involved in the Court System's Community Service Program. Public Works does not have the staff to clean up these areas. "In the past eight to nine years, we've only added three positions," Smith said.

Although public works is authorized to hire additional summer help, only two-thirds of the positions were filled this year.

Smith blames the low employment rate on competition from higher paying jobs in the construction and restaurant industries. "Up to three years ago we always had more people than we needed," he said.

Top Management Shuffled In County Public Schools

A major reorganization of the top management of the Prince Georges County Public Schools, representing the first step of a long range plan to infuse the school system with a corporate style of management, went into effect August 1. Approved by the Board of Education, the reorganization was recommended by Superintendent John A. Murphy to foster greater accountability and progress for educational programs, support services and, ultimately, classroom instruction.

The new organization includes the appointment of Edward M. Felegy as Deputy Superintendent of Schools. Felegy has been Assistant Superintendent for Administration and Personnel for the past seven years. Directly under Felegy will be five associate superintendents to oversee the newly streamlined divisions of Instruction, Pupil Services, Personnel, Administration and Supporting Services. They are Louise Waynant, Anne Prince, Jerome Clark, George Ridler and Patricia Palmer.

The reorganization further establishes six geographical clusters for the supervision of local schools. Each cluster includes about 25 to 30 elementary and secondary schools whose students represent a cross-section of the county's demographics. They were created so that relatively small groups of schools can share resources and have a manageable span of control.

The schools most Greenbelt children attend will be part of Area II under Assistant Superintendent for Area II, Konrad Koch. Schools in this area include Parkdale and Eleanor Roosevelt high schools; Greenbelt Middle School; Margaret Brent, Glenn Dale, and Lanham special education and vocational schools; and Greenbelt Center and Springhill Lake elementary schools.

Some children from east Greenbelt will be in Area III under Dr. Monica Uhlhorn. Their schools include Du Val High School, Robert Goddard Middle School and Magnolia elementary school. Those Greenbelt children who attend John Carroll and Oakcrest elementary schools will be under the supervision of Dr. Gloria Bolds, Assistant Superintendent for Area IV.

Each area cluster office will be located in a middle school separate from school operations. Final decisions about the location of these offices has not yet been made. There will be four specialists in each office, (one each for high schools and middle schools and two for elementary schools), who will concentrate on direct instructional assistance to principals and teachers in their schools. These personnel will be redeployed from existing positions and do not represent additional expenditures. (The present Northern and Southern area offices will be converted to Staff Development Centers and will continue to house certain personnel from the divisions of Instruction and Pupil Services.)

This focus on managerial leadership is specifically intended to strengthen the delivery of administrative services for local schools. The new organizational structure will be created from within existing financial resources; new appointments will be offset by the planned elimination of several mid-level administrative positions. Existing offices and departments will now become part of one of the five new divisions supervised by the newly appointed associate superintendents.

The reorganization also features the appointment of six black educators to key administrative posts for Personnel, Pupil Services, Staff Development and three of the six area clusters.

Giants Are City Champs

The Greenbelt Little League played the city championships on Friday and Saturday, July 27 and 28 at McDonald Field.

The Athletics, by beating the Lions the previous week in the playoffs, met the Giants, last year's champs and this year's regular season leaders with a 15-1 record. Friday's game was a masterful 5 hitter pitched by Keith Coleman of the Giants. He also hit a 2 run homer. The final score was 5-1.

Saturday's game saw both teams battle out a real cliffhanger. The A's jumped ahead 1-0 on a double by Jason Yambor and RBI single by Allen Lane. The Giants came back 2-1 in the second, the A's tied 2-2 in the third. The Giants battled back again and took the lead 4-2 in the fifth inning and held on to win behind the strong pitching of John Stringfellow, who struck out 16 batters.

S and L Withdrawals Okayed to Pay Taxes

Governor Harry Hughes has eased restrictions on Maryland savings and loan associations to release funds for payment of property taxes and similar obligations.

In an executive order further amending the restrictions he imposed May 14, the Governor exempted payment of such obligations from the $1,000 limit on withdrawals from these associations within a 30-consecutive-day period.

The amendment permits the use of expense-account funds held by savings and loan associations for payment of real estate taxes, property insurance premiums, premiums for the borrower's credit insurance, ground rents "or other expenses necessary to protect the security of a loan." These may be withdrawn only upon submission of a written declaration of need, subject to penalty for perjury.

CONSIDERING A CHANGE IN RESIDENCE?

There are three key elements to consider:

- A) Your needs: things you positively have to have.
- B) Your wants: things you'd like to have, but don't necessarily need.
- C) Your qualifications:
 - 1) Your initial investment (cash to move in)
 - 2) Your total income (gross yearly income)
 - 3) Your debt service (total indebtedness)

I would like the opportunity to discuss with you how we can combine these three factors to assist you and your family in achieving your housing goals both within Greenbelt and the metropolitan area - of course with no obligation.

ELECTION, Cnt. fr. p. 1

Dick Pilski and his wife, Claire, a registered nurse, have been Greenbelt residents for 26 years. They have three children, Richard Jr., Nancy and Chris, and a granddaughter, Erica Bridgette Young.

Pilski is currently employed by the Maryland Department of Transportation as a community relations officer. He retired from Prentice-Hall after 24 years as a tax consultant.

Pilski is a native of Kingston, Pa. He attended King's College in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and holds a B.S. in Business Administration from Syracuse University. He served three years in the Navy in World War II. He has served on the faculty of Prince Georges Community College where he taught federal taxes, marketing, advertising and salesmanship courses.

Dick was the first president of the Lakewood Citizens' Association, on the board of directors of the Greenbelt Credit Union, and on St. Hugh's building fund committee and school board. He was a coach of a Little League minor league team and is a citizenship counselor for Prince Georges County boy scouts. He has been a ride-a-bike participant from its inception and a telethon participant for cerebral palsy for six years.

Pilski was the first municipal official appointed to the county tax differential committee that established the rules for tax rebates to cities for duplicate services. These guidelines have resulted in thousands of dollars of rebates to Greenbelt.

He has the longest length of service on council in Greenbelt history, 22 years. He has served as mayor four terms, mayor pro tem four terms and councilmember for three terms. Counting his early service on the Advisory Planning Board and Charter Review Board he has served the city for more than 25 years. He was president of the Senior Citizens Housing that established the Ridge Road Center.

Pilski has served on the executive committee of the Maryland Municipal League for six years, and the Maryland Transportation Committee for ten. With the Washington Metropolitan Council of Governments, he was on the board of directors for eight years, and served on the Energy Policy Committee, Public Policy Committee, Environmental Committee, and the Executive Committee for Cities less than 100,000.

On the national level he has served as vice chairman of the Bicentennial Committee and has served for 18 years on the Transportation Committee of the National League of Cities.

He is an active member of the Greenbelt American Legion, VFW, Knights of Columbus, Lambda

Our sympathy to Jim Kizale and daughter, Joanne on the death of his wife and Joanne's mother, Linda Kizale.

Condolences also to Wendy Geagan, staff member at Center School, and children Jennifer and Jay, a recent graduate of Eleanor Roosevelt High School, on the recent death of her husband and their father, John Geagan.

Noreen and Jack Schultz, longtime Greenbelt residents, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary August 14. A party was given in their honor on Sunday. They have two daughters, Noreen McKinney, and Jacki Nelson of Greenbelt; and one son, Jim Schultz, who is the White House pool producer for Cable News Network. Noreen owns a video company. They also have 11 grandchildren.

The Schultz's, native New Yorkers, came to see the cherry blossoms in the early 40's and were so impressed with the metropolitan area that they decided to move here. Jack Schultz is retired from UPI.

Welcome home and speedy recovery to Sherry Hein of Springhill Lake. She was in Sinai Hospital in Baltimore for seven weeks after an auto accident on June 24. Her mother, who was with her at the time of the accident, was treated and released the same day. Sherry was third runner-up in the Miss Greenbelt Pageant of 1984. She is a 1985 graduate of Eleanor Roosevelt.

Josie Nigra of Springhill Lake and her daughter, Lucia, of California, gave a surprise birthday party for Josie's mother, Anna DiCarlo, who was 90 years of age on Saturday, August 10. The event was held at the home of Josie's sister, Tina, in Clinton.

Martha Kaufman 474-9359

Md. Relatives from all over the country attended the party and a grand time was had by all.

Happy birthday to Billy Fineran of Ridge Rd. He was 7 years old on August 15 and his friends and big brother, Jeff, 12, helped to celebrate the happy event.

Steve and Carol Cahill of Greenbelt participated in the Nichiren Shoshu of America (NSA) World Peace Cultural Festival in Hawaii on July 1-7. Approximately 30,000 members from all over the U.S. and representatives from other countries were present. Congratulatory messages to NSA were sent, including those from Vice President Bush and the Secretary General of the United Nations. The cultural festival included fireworks at the base of Diamond Head and on July 4, a parade with 30,000 American flags and a human pyramid marched down Kalakaua Avenue. Steve was in the pyramid and Carol marched with the flags. "It was the most incredible sight we've ever seen."

Marine Pfc. Steven M. Stewart, son of Richard R. and Joan E. Stewart, Hillside Road, has completed the Basic Aviation Structural Mechanic Course. During the eight-week course at the Naval Air Technical Training Center, Millington, Tenn., Stewart received instruction on the inspection, maintenance and repair of aircraft frames ("skeletons") and exteriors ("skins"). In classroom and practical application periods, he studied blueprint reading, corrosion control and metalwork!

Steven, a 1984 graduate of Eleanor Roosevelt High School, joined the Marine Corps in January.

Barb and Bill Dupree of Eastway are happy to announce the arrival of Meredith Grace, born on August 3. We wish the young lady a long and happy life.

The John and Pat Unger household on Lakeside has had an exciting two weeks. From July 30 to August 3 they hosted Maxi Grunewald and Stefani Meister while the West German Bodischer

Turnerbund visited the Prince Georges Gymnastics Training Center as part of the American Sports Exchange. The visitors enjoyed the usual sightseeing trips and also their tours of local grocery stores and shopping malls. Then came the first annual Maryland State Games in which Martha Unger won the silver all-around, silver medals in bars, beam and floor, and the bronze in vaulting. Meanwhile a week-long visit from John's sister's family from Evansville, Indiana was highlighted by Golden Wedding celebrations for their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hilbert

Unger of Silver Spring.

Congratulations to Lee and Gary Hart on the birth of their daughter Brittany Michelle on July 17.
